

THE NEW ANCHOR INN

The Anchor Inn opened in September 1925. It was owned by the Longo family. The original Anchor Inn included a gas station, bar, restaurant, potato chip factory, firework outlet, and a bed and breakfast. The name was given to the business venture by Charlie and Cora Longo's son Joey. Joey was inspired by Robert Louis Stevenson's "Treasure Island". Everyone was in agreement of the "Anchor Inn" name and it was put into place immediately.

In 1939, a decision was made to build a new building to house the restaurant across the street from the original Anchor Inn. The new building held a complete restaurant equipped with a bar, dance floor, and band facilities. The new building was built using parts of the Smyerstown Company Store. The new building opened for business in the summer of 1941 and took the name "The New Anchor Inn", which remains the same today.

Rose and Charles Setree purchased The New Anchor Inn from the original owners in 1953. Rose was the daughter of the original owners and had plenty of experience working in the family business as she was growing up.

In 2009, Rose's son Dave and wife Vickie purchased The New Anchor Inn. After a fire destroyed the building, it was rebuilt and opened again in 2012. The restaurant remains in operation today under the Setree family, and they still serve many of the original recipes. Today the fifth generation, Michael and Christopher Setree are beginning to get introduced to the family business.

We welcome you to our restaurant and strive to exceed your expectations of our decade's old family business. We invite you to join us for summer dining on our outdoor deck, birthday celebrations in our private side meeting room, and larger celebrations in our downstairs banquet room. We hope to become a part of your family's memories, and look forward to making new memories with you every step of the way.
